Constructed from highly robust and thermally efficient Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs), it is deliberately rugged in character, yet everything within has been conceived around comfort.

The Craig Ardrem

Framed by the Landscape. Made for Escape.

Bold, enduring and quietly luxurious, The Craig Ardrem doesn't simply offer a view of the landscape. It makes the landscape part of the experience.

KEY FACTS

SIZE	22 × 40 ft
ACCOMMODATION	Two bedrooms
ARCHITECTURE	Centre lounge, central viewing aspect
CONSTRUCTION	Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs)
STANDARD	Built to exceed BS 3632:2023

Commanding in presence yet considered in every detail, The Craig Ardrem is a substantial two-bedroom retreat designed around one defining feature: the view. As the second largest lodge in the MBS range, its generous proportions create a wonderful sense of space while retaining the warmth, comfort and feeling of sanctuary at the heart of the collection.

The Ardrem centre-lounge layout places the main living space at the very heart of the lodge, opening onto an expansive central viewing aspect that draws the surrounding landscape into the interior. With the bedrooms positioned to either side, the arrangement creates a natural balance between impressive shared living space and peaceful private retreats.

Constructed using highly robust, thermally efficient Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs), The Craig Ardrem delivers exceptional strength, comfort and year-round performance. The advanced building fabric creates a well-insulated, energy-efficient environment, helping to maintain a comfortable internal temperature whatever the season, while providing the durability required for even the most demanding locations.

Uncompromisingly rugged on the outside and exceptionally comfortable within, The Craig Ardrem has been conceived to embrace exposed locations and changing seasons, while providing a warm, refined and deeply inviting place to retreat to.
